

Project: GAMAN

Generational Assessment of Marginalization: Adversity and Navigating Resilience

We are looking for an enthusiastic intern for a Field Research project. This unique opportunity offers hands-on experience in academic research while engaging with diverse communities

POSITION: Field Research Intern

Responsibilities:

- Conduct fieldwork and interact with people from marginalised communities to gather data
- Collect qualitative and quantitative data through surveys, interviews, and discussions
- Work closely with students and adults from these communities to build rapport and ensure adequate data collection

Requirements:

- Proficiency in Telugu (both reading and speaking) is mandatory
- Willingness to travel to rural or urban field locations for data collection
- Prior experience or interest in field research is preferred
- Ability to work independently and meet deadlines in a dynamic environment
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- The candidate must have completed their bachelor's degree in social sciences, psychology, public health, or related fields

Location:

- On-site / Field visits
- The total duration is 4 months
- Stipend will be provided